Bozwell

Bozwell's debut CD is a collection of 12 finely crafted and very original rock songs. With influences ranging from the diverse rock and R&B of the 60's and 70's, to prog rock, jazz, classical and flamenco, his music provides a kaleidoscope of styles, textures and moods. If it's possible for a disc to be both contemporary and classic, Bozwell may have achieved that here. His songs are known for their inspired choruses, wry lyrics and soulful, often scintillating guitar work. With a sound that has drawn comparisons to artists as diverse as Dylan, Santana, Dave Matthews and the Beatles, this is a record you can sink your teeth into, unveiling pleasant surprises with each listening. This gumbo is best understood by tasting.

Bozwell - born and raised in Ontario, Canada. By 15 he had "learned to wail" on the electric guitar and joined his first band, where he wrote most of the music. He played in area bands for the next several years (perhaps the most noteworthy being the eclectic MetroGnome), all of which featured original music in a variety of styles, which he wrote or co-wrote with other band members. Formally trained in both music and electronics, Bozwell creates his music in an elaborate personal studio. A prolific songwriter, his compositions now number over 160. Bozwell now resides in El Dorado County, California, and is currently preparing his 2nd CD.
